Description

Waypoints (1)

Puncak Bukit Galing is a popular hiking destination located in Kuantan. There are several trailheads to choose from, but one of the most common starting points is the parking lot next to Jalan Haji Ahmad. The trail passes by Bukit Sekilau before reaching the summit of Bukit Galing.

Hikers need to obtain a permit from Kuantan Forestry before starting the hike. Along the trail, there are several places of interest, including Sekilau Fall, a British-era dam from 1941, and the Bukit Galing Peak Viewpoint. The trail features a lot of up and down hill sections, so it's important to come prepared with proper hiking gear and plenty of water.

As you climb towards the summit, you'll be rewarded with a breathtaking view of Kuantan city and the South China Sea. However, hikers should be careful as the trail can be slippery, especially during rainy seasons.
